Feel the Sting

EDNEYVILLE HIGH SCHOOL
EDNEYVILLE, NC

Feel the Sting of EHS

Some moments in our lives will live on forever. We will look back on special times and recall special friendships, first loves, a helping hand, and kind gestures. We will again feel the oneness of our close-knit relationships. We will feel the sting of all that was Edneyville.

The graduating class of 1991 pose for a picture.

Christy is ready for any action with her VHS recorder!

Where will this picture be in a few years?

Chris what makes you special enough to have these three girls at your side.

Aaron is ready for the sun with his new shades.

Feel the Sting
Of

Student Life

Feel the sting of the Prom

The Junior Senior Prom was held again at the Highland Lake Inn on May 12. A sound system played songs emphasing the theme, "Wishing Upon a Star." The Juniors outdid themselves by providing an unforgettable evening for the Seniors.

Jon and Kristi enjoy a dance. The music kept everyone moving until midnight.

Meet your King and Queen! David and Christy ruled over the Prom.

Ben, what is the pucker for? Stephanie sure got a kick out of that one.

Time out for a pose. Everyone looked and felt great.

Shelley enjoys a chat with Brian. There were serious moments, too.

My feet hurt! Everyone enjoyed sitting for awhile.

As the night grew late, couples began to slow down and relax.

Feel the Sting with

FRIENDS

Friends change, classes change, everything changes as we go through school. However, friends always stick together "through thick and thin."

Most of us at Edneyville have had the same best friends since we were very young, and we have all grown closer through our high school years. Friends play as big a part in our lives as students. They are always there to share our deepest, darkest secrets that absolutely no one could possible find out. Friends make the day seem better; and one knows without a doubt, he can make it through even the worst times without any trouble. Friendships made here are forever.

Hola, Amigos! You never saw one of these without the others.

Julie uses Brandy as a shoulder rest. Sometimes we need friends to lean on.

Shannon, Beth, and Eric take a minute to pose. This friendship has grown over the years!

Yo dude, peace man! These dingy blondes always had a cause!

Some friends are so close they even dress alike. Now, which one is which?

You're not in the Blue Mustang anymore girls! You can separate now!

You're supposed to tackle the guys on the other team! Lasting friendships were made on and off the field.

Allison and Stephanie look like they are up to something. These two friends were always getting into some kind of trouble.

Feel the sting of

Weekend Fun

Allison relaxes by the lake. You can always find a party at the boathouse!

O.K. now Jenny . . . left foot then right foot! Will she make it to the boathouse?

Weekends are always fun when there is a concert to go to. Suzi and Lisa are ready to rock with KISS.

This is one way to get away by yourself.

Look, Mom! We can climb a tree. These friends get together to enjoy nature.

Stop right there. That sounds good!

LesLee is getting ready for a week-end party! It would not be another boathouse party would it?

Rocky does his best impression of Gene Simmons. The Jr. High Prom was a blast.

Nothing like the week-end for outdoor fun. The Biltmore House provided the setting for these two.

3:15

Feel the sting of

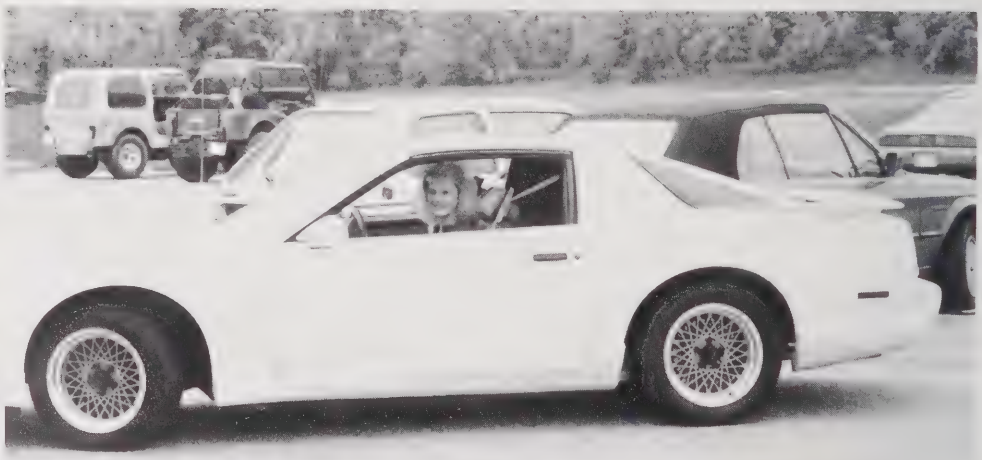
At the tone of the buzzer, all you could hear around Edneyville are cars starting and screeching tires. Students have to run to the store before practice or race home to catch the end of their soaps. For most students their car is their pride and joy. How else would you get the #!*? out of Dodge?

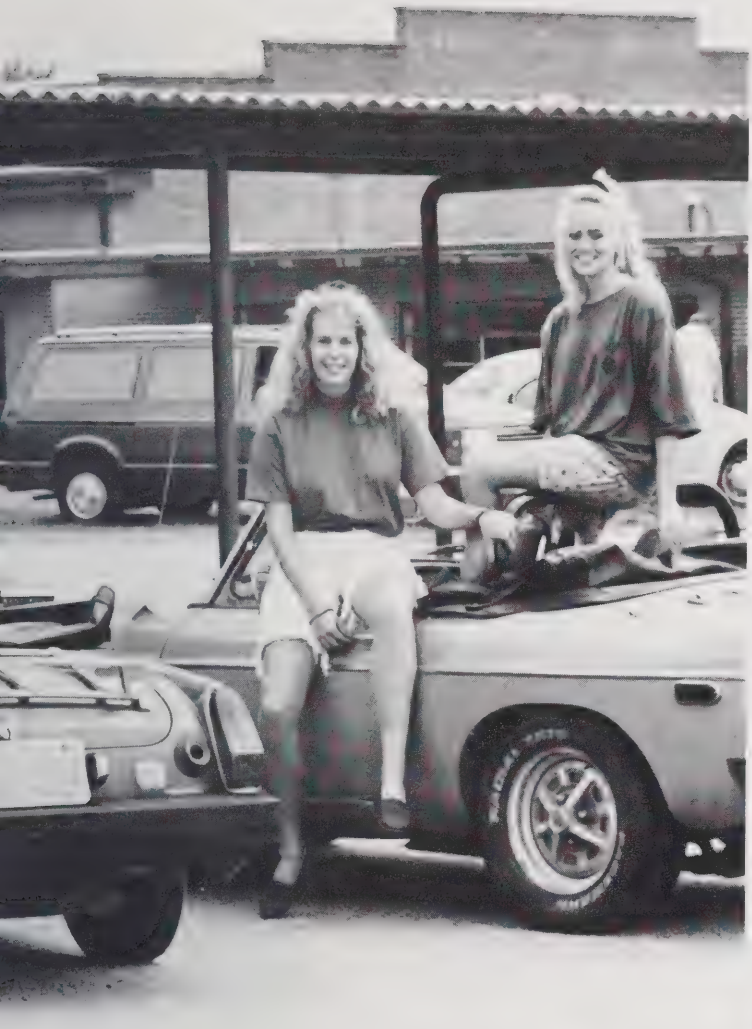
So, that's who all that blond hair belongs to in those MG's! The one on the right still putters along; the other one bit the dust.

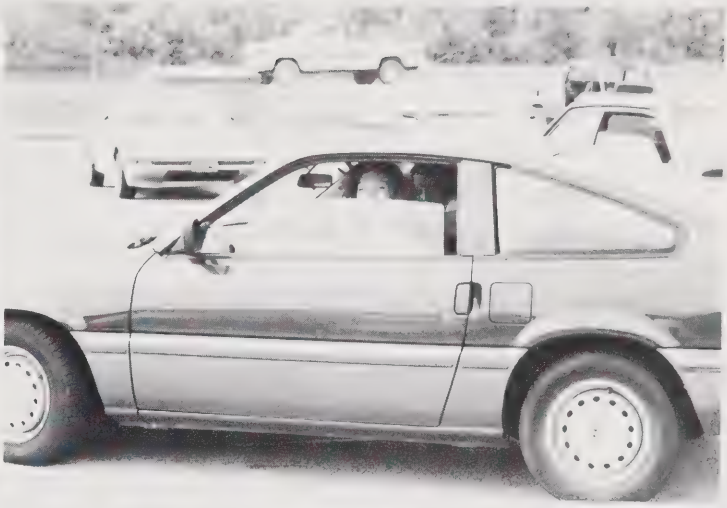
Anyone can pose beside a Beamer, but Travis actually owns this one.

Where are you going in such a hurry? Vanesa was always leaving before the bell.

Mike should have something to smile about with that awesome "Stang!"







Yo, Moho. Where's the Mustang and crew?

Layla and Jim search for peace in the CRX.

Load 'em up, Jenny, and move 'em out!

HOME - COMING 1990

This was a night no one will forget. Les-Lee Dalton was crowned 1990 Edneyville Homecoming Queen by Nikko Petro, Edneyville's 1989 Homecoming Queen. Les-Lee's escort was Thomas Hall. They made a great couple; and on the football field, they lit up the sky. The excitement was felt throughout the stands.

Miss Allison Edney, escorted by Mr. Cameron Beddingfield

Miss Layla King escorted by Mr. Brian Dalton

Miss Kristie Nesbitt escorted by Mr. Jason Sawyer.

Miss Meagan Long escorted by Mr. Joe Cox

Miss Jenny Winters escorted by Jamie Freeman

Feel the sting of

SPIRIT WEEK

These girls definitely dressed for the part on Rock-n-Roll day. From head to toe it was black leather and ripped blue jeans.

The Freshmen prepare to stand up and cheer at the pep rally. Competition was close among the classes for the Most Spirited.

The Senior class celebrates yet another victory in the Scavenger Hunt. Their goal is to always be #1.

Let's go Paw and plow the field and dig some taters. Shannon will rustle up some grub fer us!

Peace brother — Save the Earth! Hippy day was just too cool man!

Seniors cruise around the track on the tractor. They were holding on for dear life with Stephanie behind the wheel.

Feel the sting of Lunchtime

From 12:40 until 1:15 the students at Edneyville kick back and scarf down so-called food in the lunchroom. For most it is playtime! Rock fights on the walkway are not uncommon and food fights in the lunchroom are quite normal. It may as well be called recess!

The love birds of lunch. We know why they look forward to 12:40.

Chico grubs down on his moonpie. Does your mother know about the junk you eat?

Todd loads ammo for the daily rock fight. You learn quickly to duck under the walkway.

"Milk, it does a body good!" Lisa took this statement a little too seriously.

Everybody goes to sit under the walkway, especially when a camera is around.

Some people actually do eat in the lunchroom . . . if you call that eating!

"Girl, let me tell you what she said . . . " Gossip is done to pass the time while waiting in the lunch line.

Feel the sting of

Bus Trips

Bus trips are always inevitable, so the athlete must deal with them. Smiling faces and bus safety rules are not always the story. Usually there are four different teams piled onto one bus very uncomfortably. A huge party is enjoyed on the bus after every victory.

Regina is really psyched for the big track meet!

Now, let's review our bus safety rules.

Rusty and Brian are just hanging out before the real action.

Jerry and Scott are relaxing on the ohh, too comfortable bus.

The cheerleaders show their spirit for our Yellow Jackets all the way to the big game.

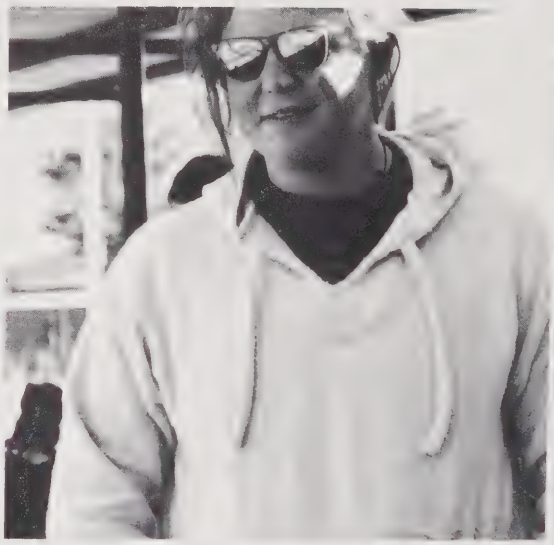
Feel the sting of

Fashions

Fashions this year changed a lot. Everybody has their own style. There are metal heads, preps, and jocks. But of course, most are known as "hicks." And don't forget the granolas, there are loads of those. Edneyville sets its own style! Students here create something new and try it. Even if it ends up the mockery of the week, each student has a style of his own.



Killer Dude! Bart was the thing to wear this year.

Next, we have Jim Russell. He is showing off the "hippie look" with his baja. Thank you, Jim!

. . . And he's buying a stairway to heaven.

These shirts have to belong to someone in the freshman class.

Their future is so bright . . . They've gotta have their Oakley's! Chris and Theresa are sporting their shades.

From pegged legs and bucks to indoor soccer shoes and leather boots – we've got it all!

Guess, Guess, Guess, Guess, Guess, Guess, who???!!!

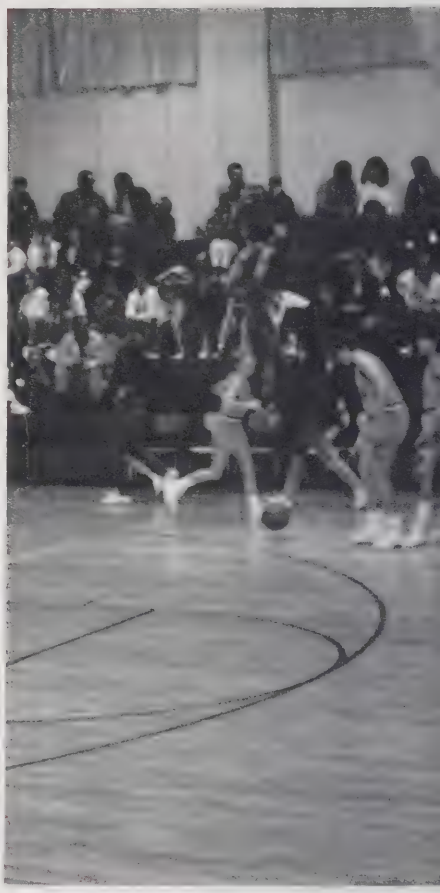
MEMORIES

Memories are what life is all about. They are what one has done in high school. The student moves on to bigger and better things making and leaving memories behind him. These moments will always be treasured.



Here we are in thirty years, but all, of course, much more hip than this.

As you see here, we have eaten our Wheaties. We've all grown and matured over the years.

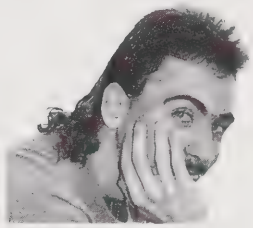
A fun time at Lake Lure. We all enjoyed the weekends of goofing off and spending time with our friends.

An old time picture that takes us all back to the sacred "Little School."

In what ways do you think you have changed since you were a kid? What funny things did you used to do?

Kerston Thomas has learned that her mom was usually right about things . . . especially boys.

Todd Corn says that he hasn't changed; he's still a kid.



Jason Dalton shows off his first place ribbon won for the tallest socks.

Miseal Zaragosa says, "Pateaba amis tios y Primos."

David Jones says that he grew up a lot over the years and had the best senior year, ever.

Layla makes a lay-up at East High School. Most Saturdays were spent playing rec-ball.

Mark Dalton said that one time he set Mark Willingham's desk on fire in Ms. Edwards' room.

Miss Whispering Pines 1991

The Miss Whispering Pines Contest is an annual event held for the students at Edneyville High School. This is a special way for the young ladies to display their unique talents. Miss Shannon Gilbert, a junior, won this year's contest. It was a hard decision for the judges because every contestant worked hard and performed well.

Where will you be ten years from now?
Allison Edney: I will be traveling around the world as a clothing buyer.
Eric Edney: Probably somewhere in Edneyville, married.
Beth Freeman: I will hopefully be working in some kind of law firm as a business lawyer if I ever get out of college.
Suzi Freeman: I will be working in a mental ward analyzing prisoners of their psy. problems.
John Griffin: A bum. (Actually, put pan handler.)
Lindey Gilliland: Allison and I living in Texas with two cowboys.
Bryan Hill: In jail. No, being a mechanic and a pimp for a side job.
Thomas Hill: Overseas, serving my country.
Lisa Holbert: I'll be traveling around the world as the Chippendales agent & always trying to find the best man for the job. But, seriously, I have NO idea.
Ryan Freeman: Working in an auto body shop. I'll have my Mustang fixed.
Fran Goforth: I will be working in a trauma center. If I can ever make it through college.
Kim Goodman: Hopefully through college, rich, married and never have to work a day in my life.

JUNIORS

Anticipating the Future

The junior year means added pressure. By Christmas the foremost thing on the Junior's mind is becoming a Senior. In the meantime the Junior is finding out what it means to be older and wiser. Homework, extracurriculars and jobs are taking up most of his time now. The all-important SAT looms in the near future. Mom, Dad and the guidance counselor are mentioning college, grades and class rank more and more.

But, the Junior will survive and take one step closer to that big challenge of the future.

(far right) We learn poise and sophistication in the junior year. Travis and Edmund were absent that day!

(right) Who said Seniors were not allowed! Seems like Junior girls have always been interested in Senior "men"

As you can see, Math is where I spend my time!?!

FRIENDSHIPS

Juniors will never forget their friendships, and how those special friends supported them through the hard times and good times. There was the late night cramming for the chemistry test, the desperate search for history topics and the reading of those novels for English. The fun times included the Jr. Senior prom, Homecoming Week, and move-up. These memories will remain with us forever.

The sophomore year is one of many turning points. The sophomore's schedule is filled with biology, world history and English II. His spare time is filled with extracurricular activities such as volleyball, football and basketball. His thoughts are filled with driver's license, that first job, and finally a car date.

As the sophomore becomes more interested in outside school activities, he takes driver's education and goes on to terrorize the highways. He often gets his class ring and begins to play varsity sports.

The sophomore class as a whole is full of high achievers and diversified, talented people with big plans for the future.

EHS Learns of Brazil and Spain Through

Exchange Students

EHS learned a great deal about Brazil and Spain this year, thanks to Carol and Anna. Carol stayed with Chat and Judy Jones. It was a big step for these girls to come to America. It was even a bigger step for them to come to Edneyville. Carol said the only words she knew when she came here were, "Yes, maybe, and no." She says she learned a lot from the EHS students. She said the first thing that she was taught was to recognize a red neck.

America has things that Brazil and Spain do not have such as ice cream sandwiches and red necks.

Ana just checking out the situation. Anna has been a treat to have at EHS

Carol and Anna have become close friends.

We are having fun. Carol joined in with the seniors like she had always been a part of the class of '91.

Carol is checking us out. The seniors have appreciated all that Carol has done for the senior class.

Hey we're cool! We have found out what it's like to live in the U.S.

Feel the rhythm of

Dance

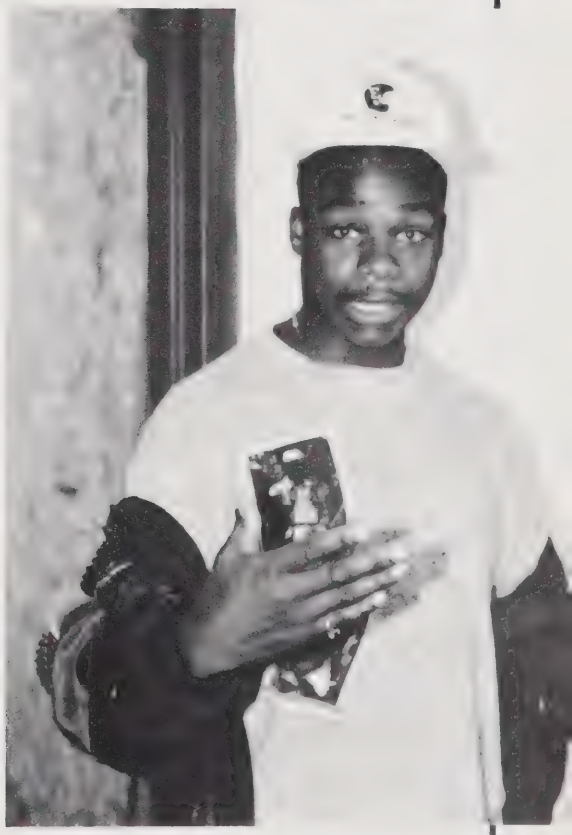
A new class was formed called Dance II. This class focuses more on actually choreographing and dancing. Dance II makes up dances and dances for rest-homes and programs at school. Dance teaches all types of dance from sixties dancing to rap. Mr. Burch taught shag and Mrs. Justus taught ballet. The students choreograph jazz dances. In Dance the student learns about the elements and the history of dancing.

London, Bradley, Smith, Osborne, Nesbitt, Jackson, Stepp, Lyda, Edney Crocker, Dalton, Mrs. Justus.

Mrs. Justus is always wanting to dance. "Let's start 5, 6, 7, 8"

Why are you all sitting down? I thought dance was an active class.

Do I really have to dance today? I didn't get much sleep last night.



Do you want to watch me dance? Brian did the Hill Hammer for us.

See The Brilliance of

EHS Art

Art was offered again this year. Mrs. Gates took off for maternity leave and was replaced by Mrs. Beverly Lunsford. The class took on several new projects which included depicting popular sayings and drawings caricatures of teachers. The Art Class helped clubs and the junior class with decorations and murals. They also displayed their work on bulletin boards and the school halls.

Don't take my picture! Draw it, don't snap it.

Marcia put all her effort (?) into Art Class.

Shannon shows his artistic style. He should art a new style!

Who me?! I didn't do it!

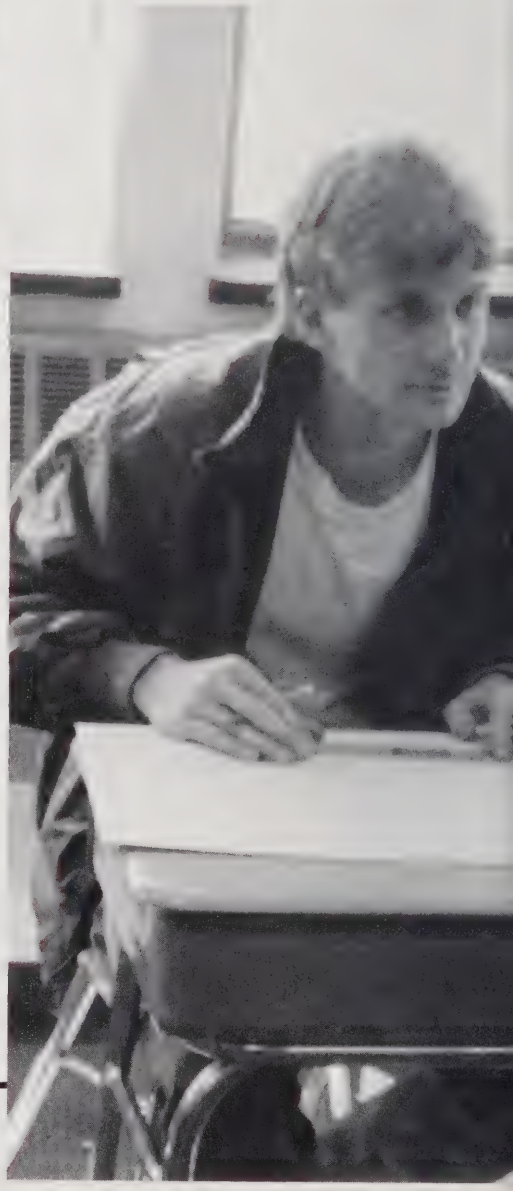
Allison, this can't be the way you won that award . . . but we can tell her mind is somewhere else.

Can I Sign Out Today For

Yearbook

The Yearbook Staff is made up of juniors and seniors selected for their interest and ability in graphic design and journalism. The staff's main endeavor is to bring to the student body a book that will depict their special memories for years to come. It can be frustrating keeping up with pictures and putting everything together just right. But that occasional trip to town can make it worthwhile.

S. Mullis, C. Cunha, K. Nesbitt, B. Dalton, J. Sweeney, C. Jones, K. Goodman, B. Freeman, K. Thomas, S. Gilbert, S. Freeman, J. Franks, T. Maxwell, C. Stepp, J. Metcalf, C. Long, J. Lambert, T. Oates



Travis is wondering how to do this layout. No one has time to help today!

Jason is looking for that missing picture. Could Kristie have it for her page?

Do I have to work on my section today? I really want to go to the gym.

Beth is getting ready to do "Student Life." "What's Student Life?"

And the Beat Goes on

With the Rest of the Band

The band takes on several faces: the concert band, the jazz band, the marching band and chorus. Mr. Larry King headed the Music department until Christmas and was assisted by student leaders Beverly Pittillo, band president; Layla King, drum major; and Les Lee Dalton, flag captain. These leaders not only helped the students learn instrumental music but taught performance and appreciation. Again the chief purpose of band was to entertain.

The band has entertained at football games. Layla led her marching band and at basketball games the jazz band performed. At Christmas time the band plays Christmas carols to get the students in the mood. EHS would be a dismal place without the enjoyment the band added.

The jazz band

S. Smith, B. Calton, B. Pittillo, B. Magouirk, M. King, J. Pratt, L. King

The EHS Chorus performed at several functions. This class added a little bright spot to our day.

Beverly shows us an award winning form.

Mr. King often picked up a musical instrument. He's "getting down."

Feel the Beat of

EHS Band

The Flag Team has been an important part of the band this year. They went to flag camp this summer at Wake Forest and brought back a trophy for Most Improved and a superior rating. The Flag Corp, along with the band, participated in parades and competition. They were the main entertainment for the crowds at the ball games. Layla, drum major, joined the Flag Team at times. LesLee Dalton was captain of the Flag Team. Layla and Leslee choreographed most of the flag routines. Joy King was the Flag Mom.

Wonder what Layla is doing up there? "Why isn't anyone following me?"

Could this be the Brontosaurus Stomp? The band lead the spirit for all the football games.

Where have we seen this routine before? You can't improve on perfection!

Give the flag team two snaps up. They brought back a superior rating and a trophy for Most Improved.

Hup, Hup, Ready How. Layla joined the flag team for a great routine.

A Thirty-three Year Legend

Coach Tom Pryor

Tom Pryor came to Edneyville Schools thirty- three years ago after graduating from NC State. After retiring from his teaching duties three years ago, he has continued coaching the girls' basketball team. Coach Pryor is recognized and respected as one of WNC's leading coaches. Edneyville has great basketball prominance under his leadership ranking as high as State Runner-up for the State 1-A Championship. EHS is proud to have him and appreciates all his hard work and dedication.

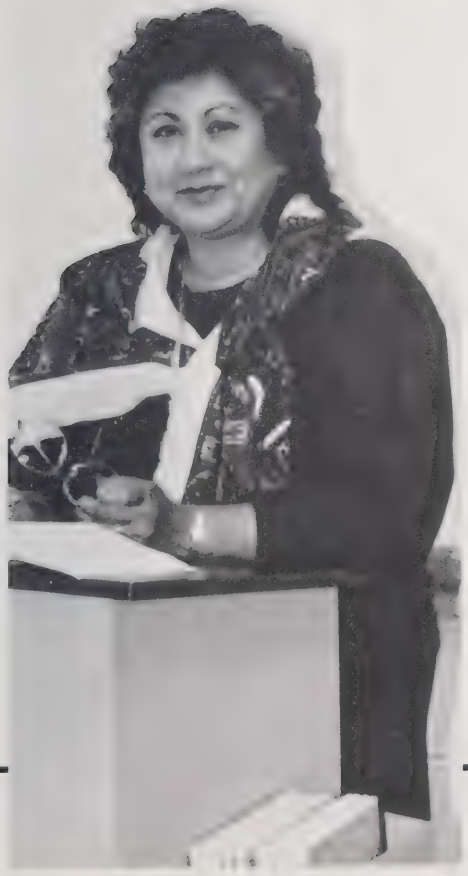
Suzi Freeman is given some valuable tips on the game of basketball.

Patience and waiting and waiting for girls are part of the game too.

English as a Second Language

Yolanda Tierson

The one person who helps the Spanish-speaking students at Edneyville adjust to the American way and feel at home is Yolanda Tierson. As a bi-lingual person and a teacher of English as a second language, she spends time each day at Edneyville and the other county schools assisting the classroom teacher and the Spanish-speaking student.



The constant smile from Mrs. Tierson can be understood in any language.

English is not the easiest language to understand. Just ask these students!

Varsity Football

Jackets Back On Track Post Two Outstanding Wins

"The 1990 season was a much improved one over last season. It was great to make the playoffs this year, and next year watch out for the underclassmen because they are the FUTURE."

— David Jones, Senior

"The 1990 season was a fun and learning experience with the two new coaches Cumbo and Pittillo, plus the other two Roper and Bonnett. I wish the best of luck next year to the 1991 Jackets."

— Eric Edney, Senior

"I thought this year was a big improvement, and we worked very hard to improve. We didn't win that many games, but those two games gave us confidence in a winning season."

— Eric Jackson, Senior

"I thought we had a good year. We improved a lot in all areas. I made it a whole year without getting hurt, and I'm glad of that. Good luck to next year's team, I will be at the games."

— Bryan Hill, Senior

"Being this my first season, I won the coaches' friendship and trust. I made many friends. I am still so excited, that I'm all ready looking forward to participating next year."

— Ezequiel Perez, Sophomore

"I think we had a good season as a team. Personally, it couldn't be better. I made many friends among my peers and adults, better yet I won their trust."

— Eduardo Urbina, Sophomore

Will someone please tell me what is going on?

Cheerleaders

Go! Fight! Win! Jackets Are Best

"This year has really been great! I will miss everyone on the squad next year. I hope we can work hard and win the State Championship in February."

— Candi Jones, Senior

"Since I cheer for both football and basketball, I can say we did great in both. I live to cheer and I wouldn't want to do anything else. I know we weren't as good as the bigger schools, but I wouldn't cheer for any other team. I'll miss it next year, but I will always be the Yellow Jackets' biggest fan. The Edneyville Yellow Jackets are #1."

— Michelle Mell, Senior

"Cheerleading has given me a very strong sense of self- discipline. To cheer, you have to keep your grades up. To do that, you have to have assignments turned in on time. Cheerleading has helped me manage my time wisely."

— Jennifer Lyda, Junior

"It's been a fun year working together with the squad. Everyone learned new things about the sport and each other. I think it takes friendship and devoted athletes to make a good squad."

— Shannon Gilbert, Junior

"This year, I feel, we have accomplished many things. We were a close group and worked well together. I will miss the Seniors next year!"

— Celena Stepp, Junior

Basketball

Team Power and Tom Pryor Slam It, Jam It!

Suzi Freeman . . . We started our season rough but we ended up well. We pulled together and played the kind of ball we knew we could.

Stephanie Mullis . . . It's been tough — but we pulled together as a team and shocked quite a few people. Oh yeah, we can't forget our "I love you sprints!"

Chris Long . . . It's been a tough year, but I've had a blast!! I hope Coach 'Tiller doesn't give up on me even though I can't get my shorts on right.

Travis Oates . . . I've really enjoyed this year. Having Coach Pitillo as coach is an experience — like the time when Coach tied Cameron's hands to the ball at a ballgame. But it has been a learning experience.

Cameron Beddingfield . . . I've learned a lot more with Coach Pitillo. I've really had a great time. Good luck next year!

Derrick Poe . . . Playing Varsity basketball has been a real experience. I've learned a lot from Coach Pitillo and my teammates and I'm sure we will be even better next year!

Jason Dalton . . . It's been a great year. I learned a lot from Coach Pittillo. We're working hard trying to make the best year we can.

Jenni Lyda . . . It's been fun. I think that we've all learned a lot from Coach Pryor this year.

Kerri Hill . . . We really are a great team. We learned a lot about working together and saying "I love you!"

"Bird Man" Dalton up for another one!

Rachael and Suzi put the usual sandwich on the opponent.

To the Class of '91

The time has come,
the day we've all looked forward to for so long,
has finally arrived.
It just seems like yesterday we were playing games and walking in single-file lines, and many of us will never forget that
"Big Red Tire!"
I remember we were all so excited about Junior High and the lockers and different classes.
It all seems so silly now.

But time has come,
we must all say good-bye
to those we love and will miss so much.
We must say good-bye to the only things we've ever known, and knowing we can never return!

But to all of you;
The Class of '91
I want to say I Love You and thanks for all the memories that will never be forgotten!
May your dreams come true
your fantasies become reality and your imaginations come to life.
Until we meet again,
keep dreamin' and
Don't Forget to Smile!

— Christy Albritton

Evening Sky

I see the most beautiful of tapestries hung in the sky above the hill.
Gold spills, shattering between the cracks of clouds in the sky.
Faded pinks, blues, and grays press in among the heavens.
The sun remains hidden, but makes its clear, silent, presence known.
Mountains loom with pale shadows along the horizon now.
All is quiet, and peaceful without any interruptions of the mood.
The night grows, the beauty fades, but all return again,
Tomorrow. Tomorrow . . .

— Micah Sherriel

Reflection

I am one with many faces.
They are faces of ones I choose.
But when people cross my boundaries,
All of my features I lose.
When people make funny faces at me,
I turn and look funny back.
The mimicking that feeds my joy,
Is also my skillful knack.

Secrets

Sanctuaries set apart, shadows,
old companions, cavernous, timepieces of silence, registered more often in radar of the eye than countenance;
resetless, released, plunderers of peace,
crimson riders storming out on ivory steeds through paths of gold dusted sanity to black ice enameled precipices.
Dawn's colors go dark.
Wisdom's custodians carefully repair broken locks and bolt superadditional latches.

— Geraldine Fincannon

"O'l My Beautiful Star"

On top of the mountain
With the bright morning sun
I lean not unto temptation but
I do not run

I can see many people
From every-which way
All I wish is have a good day.

I now look for stars
As I set Not Far . . .
From the day of exhaust,
O'l my beautiful star.

— Amanda Blankenship

"The Final Day"

Our final day is drawing near.
Soon we'll say our final good-bye.

Some of us will stay in touch
Others will go their separate ways.

Our happiness and laughter has turned to sadness and tears.

No one stops to think our final day is drawing near.

So much we want to say
But time seems to fade away.

Many friends we'll leave behind the Class of '91 may soon be gone but our memories will live on.

— Nicole Gordon

Alone

People see me every day
as they pass I say hey.
Every day I study stars
While resting on my daddy's arm

It gets so lonely way down here even though people are near.
Sometimes at night when I cry
I just sit and look at the sky, knowing someday I'll have a friend to be with me until the end.

— Wendy Ledbetter

I'm in total darkness,
my mind is a total blank,
my future lies in front of me that I can not see.
When will I see the light?
when will it come to me or will it pass me by?
My mom says follow your dreams
but my dreams are gone, and I have none.
Is it real or just a fantasy,
My dream to be?
The light is on and I see that dream to be.
I'll follow that dream, till it is real, and not a fantasy.

— Courtney Smith

Class of '91

The years have gone by
and now you're grown

Seems like only yyesterday
you were a baby at home.

Now you're ready to take on life.

Some will challenge careers,
others become a husband or wife.

No matter what, we know
you'll do your best.
Because life IS the biggest Test!

— Timothy Bennett

Good-bye

Everyone knows that everything has an end
It's just too bad it happened to friends

But you can only go so far until it's enough
'Cause even though it was fun, it ended rough.

So it is just about time to say good-bye,
don't make it worse,
don't cry.

Remember all the joy
and sorrow,
but hold your head high,
and live for tomorrow.

— Virginia Bennett

Always Together

Always together, never apart
Together forever right from the start.
Even though the years go fast
Our friendship seems to always last.
Through hard times and pain
Through sunshine and rain
Our love for each other will always remain.

— Kristie Nesbitt

Up the hill I walk
Choosing my steps carefully
Cautious of things to come and things I'll see

As I trudge up the hill
I pass a wilted tree
Reminding me of trying times
and loneliness of me.

But as I walk on up
I pass a bright colored rose
Remembering the joyful
and happy paths I'd chose.

I then stop my journey to look back to those but then make my way forward to see how the rest goes.
